Location:

Inverurie (population of 12,654 at the 2011 Census) is a town situated approximately 27km (17 miles) northwest of Aberdeen City Centre, and 20km (12.5 miles) northwest of Aberdeen Airport at Dyce. The town is a prosperous service centre for the Garioch area of Aberdeenshire and a commuter town for Aberdeen.

The subject site is situated on the east side of the A96 carriageway and to the south of the River Don, which separates Port Elphinstone from the remainder of Inverurie. The site is accessed from a driveway that extends westwards from Elphinstone Road, which itself extends northwards from a roundabout junction with the A96 and is the main road through Port Elphinstone and onwards into Inverurie.

Description:

The original building was built as a private residence, but was converted into a care home in the early 1950's. A total of 37 bedrooms are provided within the building. The original part of the building is two-storey in height, with part of the first floor accommodation incorporating dormer projections. It is constructed in granite block walls under a pitched slate roof.

A number of more modern extensions have been added, some of which are one-storey and some of which are two-storey in height.

The developable area (outlined in blue) measures about 1.28 acres, whilst the protected area (outlined in red) measures about 3.6 acres.

The entire property/site is offered for sale with certain conditions applying to the future use and development of the area outlined in red.
